About Dr. Watson:

Dr. Watson works to treat every patient the way he himself would want to be treated. He is board certified and is a member of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and the American Society of Retina Specialists.

Dr. Watson attended Tulane University in New Orleans for college, medical school, and residency. This was followed by two years of specialized training in retina surgery at West Virginia University. He then accepted an offer to be a member of the faculty at Harvard Medical School, where he worked for four years before deciding to move to Alabama. During that time Dr. Watson also volunteered at a Veterans Affairs Hospital where he provided free care to the great veterans of our country.

In the year 2021 Dr. Watson started his own medical practice in Vestavia. He moved to the area with his wife and small children in order to be closer to his extended family.
